

Internet: the most ridiculous spam scam so far?

It's probably not the most ridiculous spam scam ever, but surely it must be close. This scammer subscribes to the theory that more is, well, more. If there was any chance that a victim would be convinced by including the kitchen sink, then that would be here, too.

This is it: in all of its mad glory (except the contact e-mail and phone number). The e-mail address given is at a free e-mail service in Thailand.

We have notified the operator of the service.

Dear Beneficiary,

Congratulations as we bring to your notice. The Office of the senate house has chosen you by the board of trustees as one of the final recipients of this new year promotion cash Global/Donation to celebrate the 31st anniversary celebration. We are giving out a yearly donation of {$1.5MILLION} USD to 12 lucky recipients as this new year promotion from the W.H.O, UN, and the EU in accordance with the enabling act of Parliament. To file for your claim fill out below information and send it to the Senate House Department payment center via email contact below:

1. Full Name:
2. Address:
3. Nationality:
4. Age:
5. Gender:
6. Occupation:
7. Phone/Fax:
8. Present Country:

Contact Person: Mr. Leonard Bazz

E-mail: lb_claimsdept@admin.XXXXX.th
Tel: +234 80 5630 xxxx

Your Faithfully
Rick Umez